The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method² and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 2.00%, he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 20.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

Investment Approach

DJE - Zins Global invests worldwide in a broadly diversified portfolio of high-quality government and corporate bonds. High-yield and emerging market bonds can be added. The selection of individual bonds depends largely on a fundamental assessment of the debtor's solvency and the corresponding yield valuation. The fund management emphasises a balanced mix of bonds with an attractive risk/reward ratio and strives to achieve an appropriate return. The currency risk of securities not denominated in Euro can be partially or fully hedged depending on the market situation. The fund thus offers easy access to the global bond market and can serve as a basic investment.

Monthly Commentary

The bond markets fell for the most part in December. This was a reaction to the monetary policy of the major central banks, which was not as loose as expected. As expected, the US Federal Reserve lowered key interest rates by 25 basis points to a range of 4.25 to 4.50%. However, it announced that it only plans to cut interest rates by two further 25 basis points in 2025 instead of four. The inflation trend played an important role in this. US inflation rose by 2.7% in November compared to the same month last year (October: 2.6%). The Fed expects inflation to fall only slightly in 2025 and does not want to reach its target of 2% until 2027. The Fed's anticipated slower pace caught the markets on the wrong foot, as four interest rate cuts had been expected. The ECB also cut its key interest rates in December. However, the reduction in the main refinancing rate by 25 basis points to 3.15% appeared too low to the majority of investors. They had hoped for a bigger move in view of the very subdued economic outlook for the eurozone. Both of these factors weighed on the bond markets. Yields on high-quality government bonds rose significantly. The yield on 10-year German government bonds rose by 33 basis points to 2.37%, while the yield on their US counterparts rose by 38 basis points to 4.57%. Yields on corporate bonds also rose, in some cases significantly. High-quality European paper yielded 3.18%, 17 basis points higher, while US paper was 29 basis points higher at 5.33%. However, the trend in high-yield corporate bonds diverged. The yield on US securities rose by 36 basis points to 7.48%, while that of their European counterparts fell slightly by 4 basis points to 5.70%. The DJE - Zins Global fell by -0.44% in this market environment. The fund's performance was negatively impacted by the broad rise in yields across almost all bond types. Only European high-yield bonds moved sideways, as their yield fell by an average of 4 basis points to 5.70%. On the other hand, the fund benefited from the US bonds it held, as the US dollar appreciated against the euro. Over the course of the month, the fund management reduced the weighting of US Treasuries, but otherwise left the allocation unchanged. The modified duration (including cash and derivatives) fell slightly from 5.20% to 5.15%. The bond ratio rose moderately from 97.74% to 98.25%. Liquidity fell accordingly from 2.26% to 1.75%.
