Fund Portrait

The JSS Sustainable Bond - EUR Corporates aims to deliver a steady yield while maintaining a balanced risk diversification and optimal liquidity. To achieve this, the sub-fund invests globally, exclusively in debt instruments denominated in Euros and issued by companies that contribute to the creation of a sustainable economy. It will also systematically integrate financially-material ESG aspects throughout the entire investment process, in order to avoid controversial exposures, mitigate ESG risks and harness opportunities, while aiming to achieve an above-average ESG profile. In addition, the sub-fund can also invest in equities acquired through conversion or exercise of options, as well as hold liquidity.

Review

In 2024 euro area growth disappointed, and it continues to be on a weak footing. Manufacturing activity remains soft, likely leading to a rise in unemployment in 2025. Political risks in France and Germany have risen in 2024. In the upcoming German parliamentary elections, parties at the margins of the political spectrum could increase their representation in the Bundestag. Given the difficulties in forming a new French government, the gridlock over the unsustainability of government debt levels is set to carry on. Both are headwinds for the euro. On the positive side, inflation has fallen close to the ECB's 2% target, which should allow the ECB to continue cutting their policy rate throughout 2025 and enable economic activity in the euro area to recover to some extent. In this challenging environment, the fund outperformed in 2024 and also in December.

Outlook

Over the past twelve months, policy rate expectations have essentially moved sideways within a wide band. Moreover, there has been an increasing divergence between the US and the rest of the world, which has led the US dollar to rebound strongly in the fourth quarter of 2024. In our view, long-term yields seem fairly priced and should remain elevated throughout the coming year with the exception of UK yields, where we see potential for a substantial downward retracement. Given that risk premiums across all fixed income sub-asset classes are close to their historical lows, valuations look expensive. Yet the lack of a meaningful economic downturn does not warrant a structural underweight in credit at the current time. Hence, we will position ourselves cautiously, with a long-duration bias.
