Fund Portrait

The JSS Sustainable Equity - Global Climate 2035 seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation through global investments in equities of companies contributing to a carbon-neutral outcome. The objective is to reduce the carbon footprint (claims on carbon emissions per million USD invested) over time until it reaches net-zero by 2035 in line with J. Safra Sarasin's Climate Pledge. To this end, the fund will invest in «Green Champions», companies enabling substantial emissions reduction through innovative solutions, and «Climate Pledgers», companies on a temperature trajectory below 2°C, in line with the Paris Agreement. The portfolio will be below 2°C at all times, have at least 20% exposure to green revenues, and no exposure to stranded assets. The Sub-Fund is actively managed without replicating any benchmark. However, the Sub-Fund is managed with reference to MSCI World Climate Paris Aligned Net Return (the «Benchmark»).

Review

The global equity market strongly rallied in November following the outcome of the US presidential election, as the market was encouraged by the potential tax cuts, deregulation and increased local manufacturing, which outweighed the negatives related to potentially higher tariffs on exports to the US. Cyclical sectors, such as consumer discretionary and financials were among the best performing sectors. Healthcare was the worst performing sector last month. Fund performance was slightly ahead of the benchmark in November helped by our positive industry and style allocation, while our stock selection was negative. Our industry allocation had a positive performance impact related to our slight underweight in semiconductors. Our style tilt towards medium capitalisation stocks led to a positive performance contribution. Our position in Motorola Solutions and our underweight in Meta Platforms had the largest positive stock selection contribution, while our position in Tetra Tech and Arista Networks were the largest performance detractors in November.

Outlook

Developed nations agreed at the COP29 UN Climate Conference to triple their financial support to developing countries to accelerate their greenhouse gas emission reduction plans. Surprisingly, standards of a new global carbon credit trading mechanism were also laid out. Next year the update of national emission reduction plans will be due at the COP30 in Brazil. Our climate fund holdings would generally benefit from a step-up of global emission reduction efforts and remain well insulated from higher taxes. Under Donald Trump's newest US presidency there is high likelihood that various green incentives (such as electric vehicle purchase, solar/wind/hydrogen manufacturing and carbon storage credits) could be reversed. Only a few of our holdings could be negatively affected, as we already focus on "green champion" companies that offer highly economic decarbonisation solutions even without subsidies. Our climate strategy is well balanced, which helped us perform strongly year-to-date and since the inception of the climate strategy compared to the Morningstar Ecology peers.
