Fund Portrait

The JSS Sustainable Bond - Euro Broad invests in the euro aggregate bond market. The sub-fund seeks to achieve attractive risk adjusted returns via active management. The strategy invests dynamically in sovereign, quasi-sovereign and corporate bonds denominated in euro. The sub-fund will aim to contribute to one or several of the six environmental objectives of the Taxonomy Regulation by investing at least 30% in labelled bonds. In addition, for corporate issuers, it contributes to the environmental objective of climate change mitigation by achieving net zero emissions by 2035. To align the sub-Fund with the «Do No Significant Harm» principles, the eligible investment universe as defined by the proprietary JSS sustainability matrix avoids issuers on the exclusion list as well as industry laggards and issuers with weak ESG credentials. The Sub-Fund is actively managed without replicating any benchmark. However, the Sub-Fund is managed with reference to ICE BofA Euro Broad Market Index (the "Benchmark").

Review

In 2024 euro area growth disappointed, and remains on a weak footing. Manufacturing activity remains soft, likely leading to a rise in unemployment in 2025. Political risks in France and Germany have risen in 2024. In the upcoming German parliamentary elections, parties at the margins of the political spectrum could increase their representation in the Bundestag. Given the difficulties in forming a new French government, the gridlock over the unsustainability of government debt levels is set to carry on. Both are headwinds for the euro. On the positive side, inflation has fallen close to the European Central Bank's 2% target, which should allow the ECB to continue cutting their policy rate throughout 2025 and enable economic activity in the euro area to recover to some extent. In this challenging environment, the fund outperformed gross of fees in 2024 and was slightly behind the reference index in December.

Outlook

Over the past twelve months, policy rate expectations have essentially moved sideways within a wide band. Moreover, there has been an increasing divergence between the US and the rest of the world, which has led the US dollar to rebound strongly in the fourth quarter of 2024. In our view, long-term yields seem fairly priced and should remain elevated throughout the coming year with the exception of UK yields, where we see potential for a substantial downward retracement. Given that risk premiums across all fixed income sub-asset classes are close to their historical lows, valuations look expensive. Yet the lack of a meaningful economic downturn does not warrant a structural underweight in credit at the current time. Hence, we will position ourselves cautiously, with a long-duration bias.
