Fund Portrait

The JSS Sustainable Bond – Emerging Markets Corporate IG aims to achieve attractive returns in excess of the benchmark through the cycle. To achieve this, the sub-fund invests globally in the Emerging Market corporate bond market, predominantly in bonds issued in US Dollars. The strategy follows a conservative philosophy, focusing on the high credit quality segment of the market. Therefore, the sub-fund invests at least 70% of the assets in investment grade securities. It will also systematically integrate financially-material ESG aspects throughout the entire investment process, in order to avoid controversial exposures, mitigate ESG risks and harness opportunities.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed without replicating any benchmark. However, the Sub-Fund is managed with reference to JPM Corporate Broad EMBI Diversified High Grade Index (the "Benchmark").

Review

The JSS Sustainable Bond – Emerging Markets IG fund returned -0.69% in December, outperforming the benchmark. As US Federal Reserve expectations shifted towards fewer cuts in 2025, the US Treasury curve bear steepened with the 5-30y segment moving upwards by 33-42bp. Amid this backdrop, EM corporate credit was resilient and credit spreads tightened marginally, outperforming US corporates on both the investment-grade and high-yield categories. The primary market activity was muted for the most part of the month, in line with prior monthly levels. The volatility in US Treasury yields and the political noise in the US continued to weigh on sentiment keeping monthly EM fund flows into the red. Some fund underweight positions (e.g. in Mexico, China, South Africa and Saudi Arabia) were major contributors to the fund's outperformance against the benchmark.

Outlook

We expect EM credit to be volatile in the coming few weeks, with uncertainty on the new US administration policy agenda, coupled with the risk of deflation and Fed repricing posing the biggest risks on the horizon. This drives our cautious approach in the immediate term, with a reduced credit risk position, higher cash and in general greater focus on credit selection and quality. We plan to remain underweight credits with little spread cushion, while also avoiding long duration as curve steepening could continue. The primary market activity has started in line with historical trends, and we expect the first three weeks of January to be busy in terms of supply. As of the end of December, the fund had a yield to worst of 5.7%, a duration of 4.8 years, and an average rating of BBB+.
