The fund invests into equity securities of companies which are part of the SPI Extra Index (SPIEX). Stock selection is based on a bottom-up research process which also includes sustainability criteria (ESG). Core investments consist of high-quality companies which generate high levels of free cash flow and are reasonably priced. The fund consists of 45-55 companies.

Market environment, performance analysis and portfolio activity

In December, mainly Technology stocks were able to make further significant gains. Notably, US index heavyweights like Alphabet, Amazon, Apple and Tesla recorded substantial price increases. On the other hand, the Russell 2000, which includes smaller US companies, lost a large part of its strong November performance. This could also be related to the rising interest rates over the course of the month. The development of interest rates could come more into the focus of investors in the coming months, depending on the implementation of the Trump agenda.

The SPI Extra index also continued to lose value in December and ended the last quarter significantly in the red. The relative monthly performance was positively impacted by overweighted Temenos, SGS and Aryzta as well as by underweighted Bachem and Sunrise. Negatively affected was the relative performance by overweighted Siegfried, Comet and SoftwareOne as well as by underweighted Avolta and Flughafen Zürich. In December, we added to our holdings in Galderma and Ypsomed while reducing our positions in Julius Baer. Orior has been sold completely.
