

Main characteristics

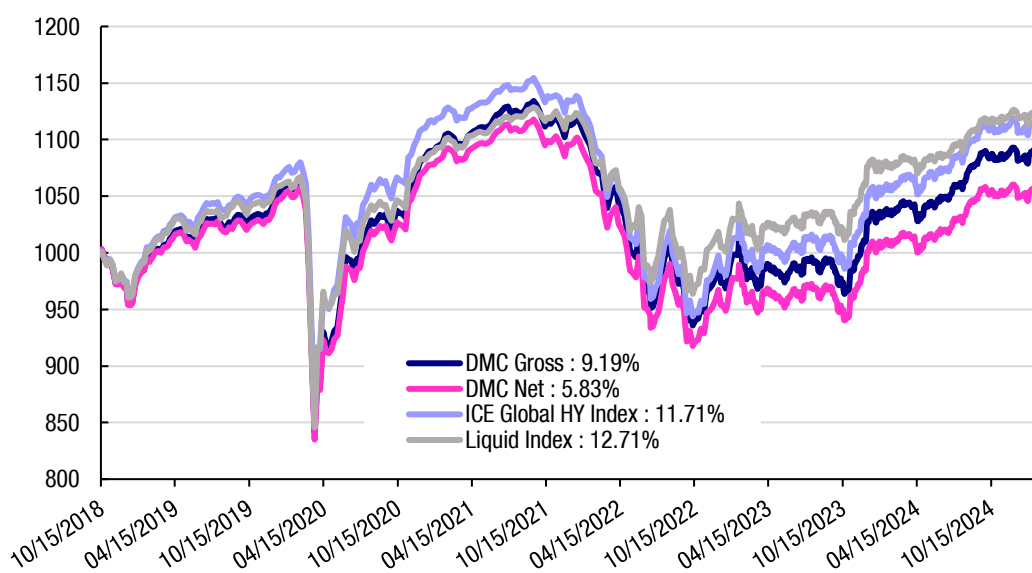

The investment objective of the DMC FUND - WORLD HY CORPORATE BONDS Sub-Fund is to achieve a long term capital increase by offering to investors an access to the global "high yield" corporate bonds. The management is based on a quantitative approach, called optimized sampling, aimed to align the principal portfolio risk factors with those of the benchmark with the most efficient bonds. The global control of portfolio risk is achieved using quantitative process centered on spread maximization procedure that takes into account multiple constraints derived from the benchmark risk profile. The approach is based on inclusion of entire universe, on low turnover and on diversification.

Market Comment

January was a turbulent month for equities, bonds and currencies. Donald Trump's return to the White House unleashed an avalanche of executive orders, but many questions remain unanswered. The direction of fiscal policy has yet to be clearly defined, and the application of new tariffs remains clouded in uncertainty after Donald Trump picked fights with Mexico, Canada and China. As expected, the Federal Reserve left its key interest rate unchanged, while the ECB cut its deposit rate by 25 basis points. The US economy, which grew at an annualised rate of 2.3% in the fourth quarter, continues to overshadow the rest of the world, particularly Europe, whose GDP is stagnating. Inflation is somewhat sticky, but not very far from the 2% pace targeted by the Fed and the ECB. Robust corporate earnings and positive guidance drove equity market gains until the sudden emergence of DeepSeek, an efficient and promising Chinese competitor to ChatGPT and others.

Bond yields in both US dollars and euros spiked in the early days of the year, before retreating to levels close to those seen in early January. These moves responded to indicators suggesting that US inflation remains under control and to some dovish comments suggesting that the Fed would continue to cut its key interest rate. Global high yield credit spreads tightened further to levels not seen since 2007.

The fund recorded a net performance of +0.80% (ICE index: +0.86% and liquid index: +0.64%). In January, the portfolio was mainly driven in absolute terms by financial, consumer-cyclical and communications. On the opposite side, technology and utilities brought no contribution. At the issuer level, H&E Equipment and Standard Profil Automotive recorded positive performances. Broadly speaking, the segment benefited from the yield curve movement. In relative terms, the portfolio was almost perfectly in line with the ICE index due to the security selection within the communications (-3 bps of relative contribution). The relative performance was affected by Aitice Financing (-4 bps) and Echostar Corp (-1 bps of relative performance). At the opposite, we can underline the good performances of Standard Profil Automotive (+22.34%) and Hudson Pacific Properties (+9.14%). At the geographical level, we observed the positive relative contribution of the US bonds (+6 bps of relative performance) and a negative contribution of the South American bonds (-3 bps). As far as it concerns the liquid universe, the ICE index outperformed the liquid index due to the higher duration and the spread compression.

The trading activity during the month of January was a little more intense than usual. We operated 53 trades, and we were subject to 4 corporate actions. Concerning the changes in the HY universe, the number of issues remained stable (3241 in December and 3222 in January). Regarding the new entries, we can mention the new issues from Ivanhoe Mines, Wage Bondco, Iren Spa and Bapco Energies. On the other side, News Corp left the
