Investment Objective and Investment Policy

The objective of the fund is to achieve a reasonable and inflation-resistant return over the medium to long term through a broadly diversified portfolio of equities, commodities, bonds and money market instruments. To reduce risk, large individual bets are avoided and the portfolio is regularly rebalanced.

Characteristics

The fund is suitable for investors with a medium risk tolerance who are looking for long-term participation in the equity and commodity markets as well as inflation protection through real assets.

Investment Manager's Comment

The fund achieved a good outperformance in a turbulent month of August. The reasons for this were the rather defensive orientation of the equity part with a focus on quality stocks and the long position in VIX futures. This paid off on August 5 in the sell-off driven by the yen carry trade unwind. We took advantage of the spike in volatility to liquidate the VIX position. We bought new shares in the dental company Align Technology and Qualitas Controladora, the leading car insurer in Mexico. We sold Novartis, which reached our fair value, and Petrobras. The shares of the Brazilian oil multinational are still trading well below our estimated fair value. However, the Lula government's increasing efforts to channel the company's abundant cash flows into pointless investment projects and thus misuse them for political purposes drove us to make the sell decision for corporate governance reasons.
