FUND COMMENTARY

"Supernature" – Cerrone, 1977

The S&P 500 broke to new highs in September and is up 20.8% year to date. It has delivered a 16.2% annualized total return over the last 5 years, 13.5% over the last 10 years and 14.3% over the last 15 years. It is a "Supernature", to paraphrase Marc Cerrone in his 1977 disco smash. In fact, the "Supernature" are more to be found in the constituents of the index: its top 6 market caps (Apple, Microsoft, Alphabet, Meta, Amazon and Nvidia) are only 34 years old and weigh as much as $ 2.5 trillion, on average. "And they grew up in the way that we'd never seen before" to quote Cerrone again.

Thanks to a strong month (+2.0%, the best September return since 1997), the S&P does it again this year and, with a +20.8% return so far in 2024, outpaces all major equity indices. Beyond this performance, September has recorded many wild moves in financial markets; as the Fed eased, as expected, long term yields fell (-12 bps for the US and -18 bps for Germany), Gold soared again (+5.2%), the dollar weakened (-0.9% versus the euro and -2.1% versus the Yen), while Chinese equities skyrocketed following the announcement by Chinese authorities of a massive stimulus plan (the CSI300 rose 21.0%). This has propped up most commodities, but, very strangely, not Oil, which collapsed 7.3% and is now down 4.9% for the year. Who could have predicted that extremely serious tensions in the Middle-East, coupled with a monster stimulus plan tinkered by China, would have seen Oil fall by this magnitude?

September's over and we now enter a statistically favourable period for equities. Will investors keep their loot snug in their arms, or maintain, or even increase, risk?

DGC Stock Selection B euro rose 0.19% in September, versus +1.00% for the MSCI World NTR in euros. On a year to date basis, the fund is up 10.83% versus +17.64% for the benchmark.

It has been quite a peculiar month for our portfolio, as our stocks did quite well on average, but the overall relative return versus the MSCI World lagged because of the hit on Novo Nordisk (-16.1%) and on most semiconductors stocks (ASML down 8.2%, ON Semiconductors -6.8%), barring Nvidia (up 1.7%) which we unfortunately do not own.

The only other significant detractor was Diamondback Energy, which unsurprisingly fell (11.6%) in the context of extremely weak oil prices. We increased our position in the stock during the month, using the proceeds of our exit from Chevron.

The Chinese stimulus gave Rio Tinto a breather, in a complicated year for the mining giant. It rose 11.1% in September, while the second best performer in our portfolio was Ulta Beauty (+10.3%), another stock which faces a tough year still.

We have added to our position in Constellation Brands during the month; by our work, the Corona and Modelo brewer, among other brands, not only exhibits very attractive valuation metrics, but also shows enviable growth prospects thanks to continuous market share gains in the US. Because of lower interest rates, we have reduced JP Morgan, at the margin.
