Market review: After enjoying quite a run of outperformance, the Healthcare sector came under pressure in September. The main macro event of the month was the large US Fed rate cut, which buoyed growth sectors at the expense of the more defensive corners of the market. This dynamic was also present within the healthcare sector, with Medtech outperforming Pharma. Overall, we see this as a temporary setback as markets adjust to a new interest rate trajectory, as well as a testament to sector's strong YTD performance in the form of profit-taking. Two major oncology conferences took place this month; World Lung in San Diego and ESMO in Barcelona. The star of the show at World Lung was Summit and Akeso's PD1xVEGF antibody. Its results in advanced NSCLC were better than the current standard of care, which has not been improved in over 8 years. While there are many caveats to this data, such as the lack of diversity of the patient population, this may be the beginning of a new era in immuno-oncology. The European Association for the Study of Diabetes (EASD) conference in Madrid was highly awaited and widely attend following the large strides made in the understanding and treatment of diabetes, obesity, and associated diseases in the past few years. New obesity drugs such as those in the incretin class (e.g. GLP-1), represent the start of a broader wave of development. However, their mechanisms of action, along with their added benefits and potential side-effects, are not yet fully understood

Portfolio changes: No new position was initiated and we exited Guardant.

Performance review: The largest contributors were BioNTech (+108 bps / Summit Therapeutics and Akeso's PD1xVEGF presented results in advanced NSCLC that were better than the current standard of care. BioNTech rose in sympathy to Summit, as they are working on a similar drug together with Biotheus), Inspire Medical (+51 bps / very upbeat tone (strong patient demand, GLP-1 tailwind, confirmation of 2024 guidance, affirmatively saying that 2025 consensus was not unreasonable). Apple's announcement of having sleep apnea alert on Watch Series 10 also helped the stock) and Teladoc (+49 bps / broker note stating that Betterhelp should beat Q3 consensus, driven by web traffic that turned positive in July/August after 12 consecutive months of YoY declines). The largest detractors were Ionis (-53 bps / Announcement of USD 500mn stock offering), Organon (-43 bps / The stock was downgraded by a major broker. Later, Organon's announcement to buy Dermavant Sciences from Roivant for USD 1.2bn was not well received by the market) and Aspen (-43 bps / Stock sold-off after reported sales were lower than expected).

ESG: Firms in the portfolio did not report any material ESG issues in September.
