Potential Risks

The Fund's risk and reward profile does not reflect the risk inherent in future circumstances that differ from what the Fund has experienced in the recent past. This includes the following events which are rare but can have a large impact.

- Credit risk: Issuers of assets held by the Fund may not pay income or repay capital when due. The Fund's investments have considerable credit risk.
- Liquidity risk: Assets cannot necessarily be sold at limited cost in an adequately short timeframe. The Fund's investments may be prone to limited liquidity. The Fund will endeavor to mitigate this risk by various measures.
- Counterparty risk: Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Fund's derivative counterparties may lead to payment or delivery default. The Subfund will endeavor to mitigate this risk by the receipt of financial collateral given as guarantees.
- Event risk: In the case a trigger event occurs contingent capital is converted into equity or written down and thus may lose substantially in value.
- Operational risk: Deficient processes, technical failures or catastrophic events may cause losses.
- Political and Legal risks: Investments are exposed to changes of rules and standards applied by a specific country. This includes restrictions on currency convertibility, the imposing of taxes or controls on transactions, the limitations of property rights or other legal risks. Investments in less developed financial markets may expose the Fund to increased operational, legal and political risk.
- Sustainability risks: Sustainability risks are environmental, social or governance events or conditions that can have a material negative effect on the return, depending on the relevant sector, industry and company exposure.

The product's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as more complete information about the product, are provided in the prospectus (or relevant offering document), which should be read carefully before investing.

Quarterly Portfolio Commentary

The UBS (Lux) Global High Yield Bond Fund returned 5.17% on a gross basis in Q3 2024, outperforming the benchmark by 28 basis points.

The Fund's security selection within high-yield bonds positively contributed to its relative performance versus the Index.

For the third quarter, from a sector perspective, basic industry and telecommunications were both positive contributors to performance. Within both sectors, security selection contributed to outperformance. And media and real estate were detractors to performance. Within both sectors, security selection and an underweight position versus the benchmark detracted from outperformance.

From a rating perspective, Caa3 was a positive contributor to performance due to a security selection and an overweight position versus the benchmark, while Ba1 was a detractor to performance due to security selection and an underweight position versus the benchmark.

The fund is currently overweight in basic industry, technology & electronics and capital goods and is currently underweight in real estate, telecommunications and utility.

AUM (Asset under Management) finished the quarter at USD 364.86m, down from USD 366.42m at the end of June 2024.

Quarterly Market Review

Global high-yield market returns were positive in Q3, with the Bloomberg Barclays Global High Yield Corporate Total Return Index Hedged USD returning 4.89%.

The option-adjusted spread of the Bloomberg Barclays Global High Yield Corporate Index tightened by 11 basis points and finished the month of September at 317 basis points. The average price of the Index increased by 317 basis points, finishing Q3 at 96.46.

From an industry perspective, media, telecommunications and real estate were the top sector performers, with respective returns of 9.67%, 9.53% and 9.34%. Conversely, energy, automotive and basic industry were the bottom sector performers, returning 3.09%, 3.89% and 4.12%, respectively during Q3 2024.

From a ratings perspective, Ca, Caa3 and Caa1 were the top performers with respective returns of 22.43%, 21.80% and 8.79%. Conversely, C, B1 and Ba2 were the bottom performing ratings, with respective returns of -34.60%, 4.62% and 4.75%.

Outlook

Through the first three quarters of 2024, the global high-yield market has returned over 8%. A loosening of central bank policy has surely contributed to the gains, but we've also seen a tightening in credit spreads as corporate fundamentals have been broadly stable, and investor sentiment remains positive. Additionally, technical indicators are favourable considering positive retail fund flows, a declining universe of bonds due to upgrades and limited net new issuance.

The resiliency of the US economy supports our overweight and preference for US high-yield credit versus Western Europe. While growth is slowing globally, credit metrics are in a position of strength, and we do not see a significant uptick in distressed activity. We are mindful of ongoing geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and Ukraine, as well as potential volatility around the US election. The health of issuer balance sheets gives us comfort amidst the uncertainty, and, in our view, the high-yield asset class compensates investors well relative to the risks.
