

zMonthly December 24

Turbulence over the Fed's interest rate outlook

The US and some European stock markets continued to rise at the beginning of the month, setting new records. By contrast, the Swiss stock market failed to pick up speed and remained more or less flat. Even the interest rate cut by the Swiss National Bank did not help. Contrary to expectations, the SNB made a substantial cut of half a percentage point, citing a decline in inflationary pressures. Investors reacted much more strongly to the meeting of the US Federal Reserve. It was not so much the rate cut of 25 basis points that caused uncertainty, but the outlook. Only two more rate cuts are expected before the end of 2025. Previously, market participants had anticipated three rate cuts. In the aftermath of the Fed meeting, US equity markets suffered their biggest one-day loss since the turmoil in early August and the year-end rally failed to materialise. Companies not held in the fund made headlines. SoftwareOne, an IT services provider whose share price hit an all-time low in December, is set to acquire its Norwegian rival Crayon. Derivatives specialist Leonteq has been hit by tough measures from the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority FINMA, which is confiscating millions in profits. This has led to an adjustment in Leonteq's annual guidance. Over the past calendar year, the MSCI World Index gained 29% in CHF terms. This impressive performance was again largely driven by the "Magnificent Seven" stocks in the US. The Swiss equity market was held back by the weak performance of some of the index heavyweights. The fund rose 5.2% year-on-year (SPI Extra +3.8%).

Minor adjustments to the fund

We made only minor adjustments to the fund in December. We bought Clariant, SGS and BKW. On the other hand, we reduced the weighting of Ypsomed and exited ams-OSRAM completely.

Trump 2.0 creates uncertainty

On 20 January 2025, Donald Trump will be sworn in for a second term as President of the United States. Since his election in early November, expectations of his 'America First' policies have soared. However, Trump's economic plans are full of contradictions and his protectionist agenda will tend to have inflationary side effects. As a result, 10-year US Treasury yields rose 40 basis points to 4.6% in December and the US dollar is trending higher. These facts are unlikely to leave equity markets untouched. In particular, the overheated US equity market could face a challenging start to the new year, in line with the adage "buy the rumour, sell the fact". This could mark a turning point for the significant relative underperformance of European equities. We will continue to focus on our fundamental research work in the year ahead.
