ESG ratings range from leading (AAA, AA) to average (A, BBB, BB) to lagging (B, CCC).

Market Review in Q3 2024

Global growth remained moderate in the 3rd quarter, with the US still holding an advantage over Europe. Overall, US economic indicators were solid, although the labor market has slightly cooled. In contrast, growth in the Eurozone appears to have been weak again, as suggested by consumption and export data. Swiss GDP growth, according to leading indicators, is likely to be slightly higher than that of the Eurozone. The ongoing decline in inflation rates allowed central banks to further cut interest rates. Although the targeted annual inflation rate of 2% has not yet been reached in the US, the Federal Reserve responded to easing inflationary pressure and the weakening labor market with an initial rate cut of 50 basis points. The European Central Bank (ECB) and the Swiss National Bank (SNB), having already acted in previous quarters, reduced their key interest rates by 25 basis points each.

The decline in inflation and the rate cuts resulted in strong total returns in global bonds (Bloomberg Global Aggregate +7.0%). For Swiss bonds, this effect was somewhat weaker, as the SNB had already initiated its rate changes in previous quarters. Stock markets also performed well in the third quarter. US stocks (+5.9%) saw strong gains due to the robust US economy and the Fed's rate cut, while the indices in the Eurozone (+2.5%) and Switzerland (+1.6%) posted more modest gains.
