Investment Objective and Investment Policy

The investment objective of the fund is to generate value from a worldwide, diversified portfolio of equity.

The investment strategy is based on a value-style fundamental review of company performance. Risk diversification and liquidity are always fully considered.

Characteristics

The fund is suitable for long-term oriented investors, who prefer to invest in a globally diversified equity portfolio and would like to delegate the tactical asset allocation to the fund manager.

Investment Manager's Comment

The portfolio's currently rather defensive orientation paid off in the turbulent month of August. The focus remains on quality stocks at a fair price. New purchases in this segment included shares in the dental company Align Technology and yoga brand Lululemon. Both are historically fast-growing companies with high returns on capital and good balance sheets, which are currently available at a fair price. We sold Novartis, which reached our fair value, and Petrobras. The shares of the Brazilian oil multinational are still trading well below our estimated fair value. However, the increasing efforts of the Lula government to channel the company's rich cash flows into pointless investment projects and thus misuse them for political purposes drove us to make the sell decision for corporate governance reasons.
