Rolling 12-month-performance

Source: Bellevue Asset Management, 31.08.2024; all figures in USD %, total return / BVI-methodology
Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the fund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of USD 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to USD 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). The fund is actively managed. No benchmark is directly identical to a fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the fund to which it is compared. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Market review

Global stock indexes (MSCI World Net Index +2.7%) made pleasing gains in August, as did the broad healthcare sector as measured by the MSCI World Healthcare Index (+5.5%). US tech stocks (Nasdaq 100 +1.2%) and the Russell 2000 (-1.5%) were laggards, whereas the Bellevue Digital Health Fund (+10.0%) was a strong performer. Two factors contributed to the fund's outperformance: Good company news flow and a macro environment that favors the non-cyclical healthcare sector. Digital health growth stocks clearly benefited from both factors and the prospect of an imminent rate cut from the US central bank.

The Bellevue Digital Health (Lux) Fund's positive performance in August was broadly based. 26 of the 37 stocks in its portfolio made a positive contribution to performance. The top contributors were Omnicell (+52.3%), Evolent Health (+37.1%), Exact Sciences (+35.0%), Procept BioRobotics (+24.8%), Penumbra (+21.1%), TransMedics (+18.1%), Natera (+15.5%) and Intuitive Surgical (+10.8%).

Omnicell, a healthcare technology company, reported quarterly earnings that topped its own forecast as well as analyst expectations. Evolent Health gained on takeover speculation. We think its management would be receptive to a takeover bid. Exact Sciences, a leader in advanced cancer diagnostics, reported second-quarter sales and earnings that beat analyst estimates and it revised its full-year adjusted EBITDA guidance significantly higher. Procept BioRobotics received FDA approval for its AI-based Hydros robotic system sooner than expected. The new system for the removal of benign prostate tissue in males using high-velocity water jets fully integrates advanced image guidance and treatment and is equipped with value-added features such as AI-assisted treatment planning. Hydros is also a platform for developing new treatment options for other indications, such as the removal of prostate cancer tissue.

In other positive news QuantumPharm (+66.8%) and Waystar (+18.4%), both stocks that were recently added to the portfolio in 2024 through IPOs, generated double-digit returns in the past month. These promising companies could become major positions in the fund's portfolio in view of their anticipated successful business development.

Portfolio performance during the month under review was negatively impacted by Outset Medical (-85.1%), Nevro (-37.7%), Teladoc (-24.0%) and GN Store Nord (-13.0%), all of which have low weightings in the portfolio, and by two core shareholdings, Ambu (-6.5%) and Privia (-2.9%). Outset Medical, Nevro and Teladoc reported disappointing results that again revealed inherent weaknesses at the management level and/or in their business models. We sold all three positions. At GN Store Nord, business with its gaming and hearing solutions is going very well, but the anticipated recovery in the enterprise business (headsets and video solutions) has been pushed back. We are nevertheless confident that this recovery will soon be visible. Ambu published its full results for the second quarter, following the earlier publication of high-level financial results. The reported sales growth of its single-use endoscopes fell short of estimates, which led to profit-taking. All performance data is in USD / B shares.

Positioning & outlook

From a fundamental point of view, digital health companies have reported stable above-average growth and that is expected to continue in 2024.

The approval and subsequent launch of relevant new products will continue to bolster sales growth, too. Examples here are Inspire Medical's new Inspire 5 device for obstructive sleep apnea, Dexcom's Stelo and G7 blood glucose sensors, Intuitive Surgical's new da Vinci 5 surgical robot, and Insulet's Omnipod 5 patch pump.

We expect some tailwinds for our investment solution in the second half of 2024: Factors such as an initial rate cut by the Federal Reserve in response to a weakening economy (rate cuts tend to benefit growth stocks the most), attractive valuation levels (price/sales multiples close to historical lows), an expected increase in M&A and IPO activity, and a general reallocation of investment assets from the high-flyers of the past few months into top-quality stocks all speak in favor of an investment in the Bellevue Digital Health (Lux) Fund.

Risk and return profile acc. to SRI

The Fund’s investment objective is to generate attractive and competitive capital growth in the long term. It is therefore particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 5 years who want to selectively diversify their portfolio with investments in companies whose business activities have a strong focus on the digitalization of the healthcare sector and who are willing to accept the equity risk typical of this sector.

We have rated this product as risk class 6 on a scale of 1 to 7, with 6 being the second highest risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is considered high. In the event of very adverse market conditions, it is very likely that the ability to execute your redemption request will be impaired. The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or PRIIP-KID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund’s liquidity.

Risk arising from the use of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.

Awards

Benefits

- Demographic changes and an aging general population demand greater efficiency and cost-effectiveness.
- New technologies conquer the healthcare sector.
- Portfolio consisting of high-quality growth stocks showing double-digit revenue growth.
- Regulation and stringent quality requirements limit the technological risk.
- Bellevue – Healthcare pioneer since 1993 and today one of the biggest independent investors in the sector in Europe.

Inherent risks

- The fund actively invests in equities. Equities are subject to price fluctuations and so are also exposed to the risk of price losses.
- The fund invests in foreign currencies, which means a corresponding degree of currency risk against the reference currency.
- The fund may invest a proportion of its assets in financial instruments that might under certain circumstances have a relatively low level of liquidity, which can in turn affect the fund’s liquidity.
- Equities linked to technology and/or digitization can be subject to higher-than-average fluctuations in value.
- The fund may engage in derivatives transactions. The increased opportunities gained come with an increased risk of losses.

You can find a detailed presentation of the risks faced by this fund in the “Special Investment Risks” section of the sales prospectus.
