Fund Portrait

The JSS Sustainable Equity - Systematic Emerging Markets aims to deliver long-term capital growth. To achieve this, the sub-fund invests globally in the equity of companies connected to emerging markets. It will also systematically integrate financially-material ESG aspects throughout the entire investment process, in order to avoid controversial exposures, mitigate ESG risks and harness opportunities, while aiming to achieve an above-average ESG profile. "Emerging markets" are generally defined as the markets of countries that are developing into modern industrial economies and therefore have high growth potential but also increased risk.

Review

Emerging market equities outperformed their developed market counterparts in July, with a performance of 6.2% in USD terms. In terms of countries, news of positive signals from the Chinese government raised hopes of further policy stimulus. Chinese equities rallied in excess of 10% in USD terms during the month despite weakening industrial and export economic data, bringing the year-to-date performance back to positive territory. South African equities delivered a performance of +12.6% in USD terms amid easing inflation pressure and an improved domestic economic growth forecast. In terms of sectors, consumer discretionary and materials were the stronger performers as consumer spending recovered in the summer holiday season and commodity prices continued to increase in July, while IT and utilities were less attractive. In July, the fund underperformed its benchmark, partly due to the ESG exclusion constraints and the selection in the IT sector. The overweight in South African and Chinese equities contributed positively to the fund's performance.

Outlook

Due to a purely systematic investment process, assessments of developments in individual stocks or market trends do not influence the current and future composition of the portfolio. The investment policy is defined by three investment pillars: the Bank J. Safra Sarasin Sustainable Investment Universe, a rule based methodology for selecting quality, growth emerging market equities with positive analyst earnings estimate revisions, and a custom geography-sector risk bucketing approach.
