

UBS Global Dynamic Bond Fund USD

Performance Review

UBS (Lux) Bond SICAV - Global Dynamic (USD) Q-4%-mdist

Global Dynamic delivered positive returns, driven by diversified duration positioning.

Monthly performance

In August the fund performed positively with 0.4%. Global fixed income markets had a positive month. Yields on US government bonds fell, while European markets were relatively muted. From a credit spread perspective, high yield outperformed investment grade over the month.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of August, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 3.2%. 2024 started off on a weak footing after a strong Q4 2023, while credit markets remained supported as spreads ground tighter. August was a volatile month as investors began to price in the start of a Fed rate cut cycle.

Performance contributors

The strategy's positive duration positions, including those in the US, Germany, the UK, New Zealand and Mexico, contributed favourably to performance. In currencies, our overweight positions in the NOK, GBP, CAD and AUD were also contributors.

Performance detractors

Negative duration in Japan was a detractor, as was exposure to the securitised sector. In currencies, the underweight positions in the EUR, SEK and Thai baht detracted.

Current investment strategy

We are looking to tactically trade the new government bond yield range, with a strategic bias towards maintaining a long duration view overall as central banks are either at the start of a rate-cutting cycle or have already begun to lower interest rates. We own diversified exposure to credit and selected emerging market sovereign bonds, while looking to add to our holdings in the event of spread widening.

Risks

The fund may employ higher-risk strategies within fixed income and currency markets, and may take both long and short positions utilizing derivatives. This may result in additional risks, particularly counterparty risk. Depending on the credit quality, default risk is higher with corporate bonds than with government bonds and higher with high-yield or emerging market bonds than with investment grade corporate and government bonds. Changes in interest rates, credit spreads and exchange rates may have an impact on the fund's value. Emerging markets are at an early stage of development, which may involve a high level of price volatility and other specific risks (transparency, regulatory hurdles, corporate governance, political and social challenges) and liquidity may be limited. Increased portfolio flexibility may increase the risk of PM decisions adversely impacting performance. All investments are subject to fluctuations. Every fund has specific risks, which can significantly increase under unusual market conditions. The above does require that investors have a corresponding risk tolerance and capacity. This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money before the recommended holding period disclosed in the PRIIPs KID, if available for this share class. This share class (mdist) may make monthly, gross-of-fee distributions. As a consequence, in addition to income, this share class may also distribute capital. This can have negative tax consequences for investors in some jurisdictions. Investors should seek their own tax advice.
