Market performance was positive in Germany amid continued investor hopes that the snap election in February will ease the political paralysis. Furthermore, there have been inflows into European equities.

Monthly performance

In January the fund performed positively with 7.4%. The fund lagged the broad German market in January due to stock selection and sector allocation, with negative effects from the overweight in real estate and underweight in industrials, while the overweight in financials and underweight in consumer discretionary had a positive impact.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of January, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 7.4%. Please refer to the section above.

Performance contributors

Positive contributions stemmed from the overweight positions in DWS and Commerzbank. Commerzbank shares posted further gains in response to increased interest from Unicredit and additional positive broker comments. The fact that the fund is not invested in Puma (which issued a profit warning) or BMW (which is affected by auto sector weakness) also led to positive contributions in relative terms.

Performance detractors

Two stocks detracted from performance as we are not permitted to hold them: Rheinmetall due to its ammunition exposure, and Siemens Energy, which is prohibited from paying dividends while guarantees from the German government remain in place. Other detractors were positions in LEG Immobilien, Vonovia and E.ON.

Current investment strategy

While keeping sustainability criteria in mind, we are constantly looking for investment opportunities in German stocks with high dividends and attractive valuations. In our view, the combination of high yield and the potential for share price appreciation will generate value for investors.
