Equity markets experienced heightened volatility this month, as investors were increasingly preoccupied by the forthcoming US election at the beginning of November. The US equity market hit fresh all-time highs on solid earnings and economic data earlier in the month, but ended the month with a decline of almost 1%.

Monthly performance

In October the fund performed negatively with 3.3%. Both stock selection and our positioning in healthcare detracted, followed by stock selection in energy. Meanwhile, stock selection in financials and materials added value.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of October, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 2.4%. Stock selection in information technology and healthcare have detracted, while stock selection in financials and consumer staples have added value.

Performance contributors

Apollo Global Management shares rose due to positive sentiment surrounding the USD 5bn funding commitment and the company's new growth plan. Bristol Myers Squibb also added value as the company recently obtained approval for a new schizophrenia drug.

Performance detractors

Philips shares detracted on the back of Q3 results, which revealed lower-than-forecast revenues and reduced guidance due to a deterioration in demand from China. Bank of Ireland Group shares fell on anxieties surrounding the ongoing regulatory investigation into the UK car finance industry and concerns about the impact of rates on net interest income.

Current investment strategy

We believe the portfolio is well positioned to benefit from a reversal in earnings momentum as we see an acceleration in 2025 earnings growth and positive earnings revisions in areas of the market that have lagged. In this environment, we continue to focus on companies with strong cash flows, attractive valuations and asymmetric risk/reward profiles.
