The ECB cut interest rates for the second time this cycle to 3.5%. Both the decision to do so and the forward guidance were in line with expectations. Meanwhile, the European market struggled as both the manufacturing and services sector PMIs are now in contractionary territory, with the composite measure at its lowest level since January.

Monthly performance

In November the fund was flat. The fund lagged broader European equity markets as our underweight to industrials and negative stock selection in financials detracted. Meanwhile, there was strong stock selection in communication services, and our overweight to consumer staples contributed positively.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of November, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 7.8%. However, the fund is lagging European equity markets. The largest detractors have been in energy and financials. However, stock selection has been strong in materials and information technology.

Performance contributors

3i Group continued to rise after key holding Action posted significant revenue and earnings in last month's Q3 results, reporting net sales growth of 9.8% and adding 189 new stores this year. In addition, Deutsche Telekom contributed positively as its shares rose on the release of the company's Q3 results. The firm also raised its financial guidance for FY 2024.

Performance detractors

BNP Paribas shares fell as its latest quarterly results disappointed on the back of the investment banking division reporting lower-than-expected capital buffers. Hugo BOSS detracted following a profit warning due to slowing sales growth against the backdrop of challenging market conditions in China.

Current investment strategy

The fund continues to focus on companies with strong and sustainable dividend yields. While volatility in the market is increasing, the direction of interest rates suggests a more favourable economic cycle, which should be supportive to European stocks.

Risks

The fund invests in equities and may therefore be subject to high volatility. This requires an elevated risk tolerance and capacity. The value of a unit may fall below the purchase price. The fund may use derivatives, which can reduce or increase investment risk (including the risk of loss due to the bankruptcy of the counterparty). The fund pursues a very active management approach. This means that the fund's performance may deviate considerably from the market rate of return. Every fund reveals specific risks, a detailed and comprehensive list of risk descriptions can be found in the prospectus. This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money before the recommended holding period disclosed in the PRIIPs KID, if available for this share class.
