

UBS Asian Equities Fund USD

Performance Review

UBS (Lux) Key Selection SICAV - Asian Equities (USD) Q-acc

Asian equities fell on concerns over higher-for-longer fed funds rates amid robust US economic data. In addition, the possibility of a Trump election win looked more likely. India fell the most as earnings continued to disappoint. Sector-wise, IT was the only sector with positive returns, while energy was the biggest detractor.

Monthly performance

In October the fund performed negatively with 3.0%. In terms of sectors, industrials and information technology were key contributors, while financials detracted the most. Market-wise, Taiwan and India were key contributors, while China detracted.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of October, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 7.6%. Sector-wise, consumer discretionary, IT and financials have been key detractors, while materials and industrials contributed the most. In terms of markets, China and India have been key detractors, while Malaysia has been the biggest contributor.

Performance contributors

Shenzhen Megmeet was the key contributor on positive sentiment towards its collaboration with NVIDIA regarding power supply for AI servers. NVIDIA confirmed that it had fixed its issue with Blackwell AI chips, which had impacted yield, and that shipments would accelerate.

Performance detractors

Ping An Insurance detracted the most in October as the stock corrected when the stimulus-induced rally faded. We believe the company has stable insurance operations following its agency reform and is seeing growing contributions from the bancassurance channel, despite macro weakness. Investors' confidence in Ping An's balance sheet was strengthened as government policies are aimed at stabilising the economy and stemming the real estate market's decline.

Current investment strategy

We increased our China exposure shortly after month-end, narrowing our underweight by adding to what are still attractively-valued names. We will continue to monitor the execution of the policies that the Chinese government has announced and may add at times when the operating environment and earnings could be turning.
