² YTD: year-to-date (since beginning of the year)

Global stocks and major fixed income markets delivered positive returns once again in September as the Fed embarked on its widely expected rate-cutting cycle, joining other central banks worldwide in improving the rates environment. Meanwhile, Chinese stocks held onto their momentum, aiming to maintain this into October.

Monthly performance

In September the fund performed positively with 2.3%. Major global equity markets performed positively, with China leading the rally, whereas Swiss and UK equities lost ground. Most fixed income markets closed the month in positive territory too, despite concerns regarding economic growth.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of September, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 8.9%. Both equities and fixed income have contributed positively to performance. The main drivers in equities are global opportunity, high-dividend and Asian stocks. In fixed income, US corporates, emerging market (EM) debt and high-grade bonds are the largest contributors.

Performance contributors

Equities and fixed income made positive contributions overall. In equities, Asian stocks excluding Japan and EM equities were the main contributors, while the biggest contributors in fixed income were US corporates and EM debt, followed by Asian credit.

Performance detractors

There were no significant detractors in September.

Current investment strategy

We maintained our respective overweights in EM and Australian government bonds at the expense of US high-grade and Italian government bonds. In addition, we opened long positions in Asian bonds and US 5-year Treasuries at the expense of cash and 30-year Treasuries. On the equity side, we neutralised our underweight in Thai stocks and went short on Singapore equities. We remain overweight in IT stocks versus global equities.

Risks

The Fund invests in emerging markets which are typically at an early stage of development and which can involve a high level of price volatility and other specific risks such as lower market transparency, regulatory hurdles, corporate governance and political and social challenges. The Fund invests in equities and corporate bonds and may therefore be subject to high fluctuations in value. The Fund can use derivatives, which can reduce investment risks or give rise to additional risks, particularly counterparty risk. For these reasons, a corresponding risk tolerance and capacity are required. All investments are subject to market fluctuations. Every fund has specific risks, which can significantly increase under unusual market conditions. A description of the fund specific risks can be found in the prospectus. This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money before the recommended holding period disclosed in the PRIIPs KID, if available for this share class.

The monthly 4%-mdist distributing share classes may distribute capital as well as income. It is possible that the distributions result in an erosion of assets and a reduction of invested capital. There are potential negative tax consequences for some investors in some jurisdictions. Investors in some jurisdictions may incur a higher rate of tax on distributed capital than on any capital gains which are realised on disposal of fund shares. Some investors may therefore choose to invest in the accumulating (-acc) instead of the distributing (-dist) share classes. Investors may be taxed at a later point in time on income and capital arising on accumulating (-acc) share classes compared to distributing (-dist) share classes. Investors should seek their own tax advice.

Please note that additional fees (e.g. entry or exit fees) may be charged. Please refer to your financial adviser for more details. Investors should read the Key Information Document, Prospectus and any applicable local offering document prior to investing and to get complete information of the risks. Investors are acquiring units or shares in a fund, and not in a given underlying asset such as building or shares of a company.
