

UBS Digital Transformation Dynamic Equity Fund USD

Performance Review

UBS (Lux) Key Selection SICAV - Digital Transformation Dynamic (USD) (EUR hedged) P-acc

Notwithstanding mixed signals amid strong economic data and hawkish Fed messaging, US equities delivered positive returns overall in January. DeepSeek's announcement put US tech names under pressure, increasing uncertainty and adding volatility during the last week of the month.

Monthly performance

In January the fund performed positively with 3.7%. Sector allocation detracted from performance, with positioning in IT and financials detracting the most. This was offset by what was positive stock selection, especially within consumer discretionary, healthcare and financials. The equity allocation was on "high", which enhanced performance.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of January, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 3.7%. Please refer to the section above.

Performance contributors

HubSpot shares rallied as the DeepSeek news led investors to believe that lower model training costs would benefit margins, causing some of the capital flowing out of semiconductor names to go into software. Meta Platforms shares rose after the company posted strong Q4 results.

Performance detractors

For their part, ON shares detracted from performance. The company's shares fell due to restrictions on exports of US chips to China as well as news relating to DeepSeek, which raised doubts over future semiconductor investment. NVIDIA was not immune to this and detracted from performance amid concerns over the scale of future chip investments.
