² YTD: year-to-date (since beginning of the year)

January saw significant challenges including a halt to Fed rate cuts, aggressive tariffs from the new Trump administration and concerns over US tech competitiveness due to DeepSeek launching a low-cost AI model. This led to a historic decline in Nvidia's stock and losses in US tech and energy stocks towards month-end.

Monthly performance

In January the fund performed positively with 3.0%. The fund was able to take advantage of the significant gains in equity markets, with the European and Swiss markets displaying strong performances. The bond segment and alternative assets also delivered positive returns.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of January, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 3.0%. Please refer to the section above.

Performance contributors

Both equities and fixed income performed well, with equities leading the way thanks to positions in developed markets including the Swiss market. Within fixed income, corporate, emerging market government and US high-yield bonds were the main contributors. Hedge funds also made a positive contribution.

Performance detractors

There were no significant detractors from performance this month.

Current investment strategy

We maintained our overweight in US equities, as well as our overweight in IT equities against global equities. We also kept our gold position. We opened a long position in UK 10-year versus French 10-year government bonds. Meanwhile, we kept our position in 5-year US Treasuries versus cash and 30-year US Treasuries. Currency-wise, we retained our overweight in the USD against an underweight in the CNY, while we opened a long JPY versus CHF position.

Risks

The fund invests in equities, bonds of varying credit quality, money market securities on a global basis, as well as in alternative forms of investment such as hedge funds. It may therefore be subject to fluctuations in value. The fund may use derivatives which can reduce investment risk or give rise to additional risks (inter alia the counterparty risk). The fund can invest in less liquid assets that may be difficult to sell in the case of distressed markets. It therefore cannot be ruled out that the daily issue and redemption of fund units may be suspended temporarily. The value of a unit may fall below the purchase price. This requires an elevated risk tolerance and capacity. Every fund reveals specific risks, a description of these risks can be found in the prospectus. This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money before the recommended holding period disclosed in the PRIIPs KID, if available for this share class.
