Emerging market (EM) equities were down, underperforming developed markets. The market priced in a potential Trump win amid concerns surrounding higher tariffs. The strengthening of the USD added further pressure. Meanwhile, China's rally faded as policy failed to meet expectations, focusing more on risk mitigation than growth stimulation.

Monthly performance

In October the fund performed positively with 2.2%. Communication services was the key contributor, while energy detracted the most. Market-wise, the Netherlands (where Nebius is incorporated) was the key contributor, while China detracted the most, all due to our stock selection.

YTD performance

YTD as of the end of October, the fund has delivered a positive performance of 6.3%. Financials have been the key detractor, while communication services have contributed the most. In terms of markets, India has been the key detractor, while the Netherlands (where Nebius is incorporated) has contributed the most.

Performance contributors

Nebius boosted performance as it resumed trading on the Nasdaq following the full sale of its Russian assets. The company focuses on full-stack cloud AI solutions. Our underweight in Alibaba contributed positively as the stock corrected after the stimulus-induced rally faded.

Performance detractors

Reliance Industries detracted, reporting weak Q2 results due to soft refining margins and slower retail business growth owing to store restructuring. China Resources Beer consolidated as the stimulus-induced rally faded and more realistic expectations set in.

Current investment strategy

While we remain focused on medium-term fundamental cash flow valuations, the market is being driven by shorter-term factors that are being amplified by risk-off sentiment. We still believe that we are well positioned to recoup performance once the market's focus returns to company and sector-specific fundamentals.
