AXA IM Swiss Fund – Bonds CHF

Investment objective

The fund invests primarily in CHF-denominated bonds issued by Swiss and foreign borrowers that are of investment grade quality (investments with a minimum rating of BBB- from S&P or Baa3 from Moody's). The fund's investment objective is to generate a high level of regular income while ensuring capital security.

The Swiss Bond Index AAA-BBB Total Return has been used as the benchmark since 1 January 2014 (AAA-A to 31 December 2013). The aim is to outperform the benchmark by actively managing the duration and yield curve and by overweighting or underweighting specific sectors relative to the benchmark. The profile also involves targeted stock selection and exchanging "expensive" bonds for newly issued, cheaper bonds, taking into account sustainability aspects (RI scores and screening criteria).

Investment activity and performance

The dominant theme in the reporting period just ended was once again central banks – specifically market participants' expectations that not only was the phase of interest rate hikes over, but falling inflation rates and economic growth just barely above the contraction threshold would make rate cuts necessary soon. Indeed, inflation in the US and the eurozone retreated almost to the target levels. This was primarily due to base effects, particularly as the shock of higher energy prices had subsided for quite some time.

Although restrictive monetary policy has pushed inflation lower more quickly than expected, fears of recessionary tendencies in economic growth were not borne out. The leading central banks were keeping an especially close eye on high core inflation rates and thus saw no urgent need to cut interest rates again, repeatedly disappointing the markets and fueling the „higher for longer“ narrative.

Only in spring this year did verbal comments from leading representatives of the two big central banks signal the possibility of rate cuts beginning this year. The US Federal Reserve, mainly looking to the still robust labor market, appeared more hesitant in this respect than the European Central Bank, which was more concerned by flagging industrial output, particularly in Germany and France.

Unexpectedly, it was the Swiss National Bank that set the ball rolling, cutting its policy rate by a quarter-point to 1.50% in March in view of inflation rates close to 1%. This was entirely understandable from a macroeconomic standpoint as the firm franc was putting increasing pressure on Switzerland's economy, while the contribution from imported inflation had been negative for a while. Nevertheless, this early move by SNB Chairman Thomas Jordan, who has surprisingly decided to step down at the end of September before his term is up, caught market participants off guard. It remains to be seen whether Swiss inflation can hold steady at the current, low levels in the coming months, especially since the base effect from the strong currency is dwindling, while rent increases with effect from the start of April have not yet been factored into the Consumer Price Index.

International bond yields were volatile throughout the reporting period. They fell steadily up to the end of 2023, driven by expectations of initial rate cuts by the Fed and the ECB early in the year, but then began to normalize in January when it became clear that these expectations were excessive. The yield on ten-year US Treasuries bottomed out at 3.80% in late December and ended the reporting period at 4.20%, still a full 80 basis points lower than it had been at the end of September 2023. The German Bund yield followed a very similar trend, dropping from almost 3% to a low of 1.90% in December and then bouncing back to around 2.30%. The trend in the ten-year Swiss Confederation bond yield was only slightly different: it fell from 1.20% to 0.60% but then failed to rise higher than 0.70% due to the low inflation rates and SNB rate cut mentioned above.

Credit spreads fell steadily almost throughout the entire reporting period, driven by the strong performance of most global stock markets in anticipation of imminent rate cuts by the leading central banks.

The fund's duration was strategically kept very slightly below that of the index for most of the time, which generated marginally negative alpha. The highly volatile markets were not always correctly anticipated in good time, so tactical positioning tended to have a negative impact. The strategic underweight in currently very expensive government bonds, combined with an overweight in undervalued Pfandbrief bonds and other high-quality issuers, has not yet had the desired positive effect on performance. Instead, the relative contributions have been somewhat flat. This positioning will be maintained without any change and should eventually add value as intended. The more or less neutral positioning in credits was unremarkable with regard to performance.

A positive factor, meanwhile, was the fund exceeding all of its sustainability targets for the entire reporting period. Its average ESG rating was around 0.25 to 0.30 of a point above that of the benchmark at all times and stood at 7.23 at the end of March 2024, compared with a benchmark rating of 6.96.

Overall, the fund's relative performance for the period from October 1, 2023 to March 31, 2024 was fairly unimpressive.

The A share class (AXABDAI – ISIN CH0112537516 – „Retail Class“) posted a performance of +3.66%, 43 basis points below the benchmark, while the I share class (AXABDII – ISIN CH0112537557 – „Institutional Class“) gained 3.85%, underperforming the benchmark (which added 4.09% over the reporting period) by 24 basis points. These figures are at least net of all costs (A share class: 0.375%; I class: 0.175%).

Notes to the semi-annual report

Sales restrictions USA

It is prohibited to issue and redeem units of subfunds abroad. In particular, units of subfunds may not be offered, sold, or delivered within the USA. Units of subfunds may neither be offered, sold, nor delivered to US persons within the definition of Regulation S of the US Securities Act of 1933, in particular investors with US nationality or investors domiciled or residing in the USA.

Subscription and redemption requests

Units in subfunds are issued or redeemed on all banking business days (Monday to Friday). No units will be issued or redeemed on Swiss holidays (Easter, Pentecost, Christmas, New Year's Day, Swiss National Day, etc.) or on days on which the exchanges or markets of the major countries in which a subfund invests are closed, or in the event of extraordinary circumstances as defined by Section 17 para. 5 of the fund agreement.

Requests for subscription or redemption filed with the custodian bank no later than 1:30 PM on a banking business day (order date) will be settled on the next banking business day (valuation date) on the basis of the net asset value calculated on that date (cf. para. 5.2. of the prospectus and Section 16 of the fund agreement). The net asset value (NAV) that is calculated is therefore not known at the time the order is issued (forward pricing). It is calculated on the valuation date on the basis of the closing prices of the order date.

Calculation of net asset values and issue and redemption of units

The valuation NAV of a unit in one class of a subfund is calculated on the basis of whichever ratio of the market value of the assets of that subfund is allocated to the relevant unit class, less any liabilities of this subfund allocated to the relevant unit class, divided by the number of units of the corresponding class of this subfund that are in circulation at the time. It is rounded to two decimals.

The issue and redemption price of shares is based on the net asset value per share calculated on the valuation date on the basis of the previous day's closing prices pursuant to Section 16. Pursuant to Section 18, an issuing commission may be added to the net asset value or a redemption commission deducted from it when shares are issued or redeemed.

Upon issue the average ancillary costs (namely typical market broker's fees, commission, taxes and duties) aris-sing for the sub-funds from the investment of the amount paid in are added to the net inventory value.

Upon redemption the average ancillary costs arising for the sub-funds from the sale of a portion of the investments equivalent to the terminated unit are deducted from the net inventory value.

Units will not take the form of actual certificates but will exist purely as book entries.

Fees and ancillary costs

Fees and ancillary costs charged to the investors

Issuing commission credited to the fund management company, custodian bank, and/or distributors domestically and abroad no more than 5%.

Redemption commission credited to the fund management company, custodian bank, and/or distributors domestically and abroad no more than 2%.

Reporting on Sustainability (ESG)

Reporting on Sustainability as of 31.03.2024

Sustainability is at the heart of everything we do, with the ambition to be a leading responsible asset manager. That's why AXA IM strongly engages for progress in environmental, social and governance (ESG) aspects as a company, employer and investor.

Sustainable Investment strategy of the sub-fund

The subfund invests based on various financial and fundamental sustainability factors such as the performance of these companies with regard to environment, social issues and corporate governance (Environmental, Social and Governance, „ESG“). The subfund always aims at outperforming the ESG rating of the investment universe as defined by the benchmark, both ESG scores of the subfund and the benchmark being calculated on a weighted average basis. The aim is to assess how companies mitigate the most material ESG risk and take advantage of the most significant opportunities to improve their competitive standing in their own sector. The ESG analysis coverage rate within the portfolio is at least 90 % of the net assets of the subfund.

In addition, the asset manager aims to integrate ESG standards into the investment process and, in the securities selection process, bindingly applies at all times AXA IM's Sectorial Exclusion which include a series of exclusion-based policies with a focus on climate (coal and tar sands), Biodiversity (ecosystem protection and deforestation), Controversial weapons (those companies that manufacture and distribute anti-personnel landmines and cluster bombs together with depleted uranium, biological and chemical weapons) and sectors such as agricultural commodities and palm oil. In addition, AXA IM's ESG Standards policy is applied bindingly, with additional exclusions related to Health (exclusions on tobacco to avoid financing the tobacco industry and thus contribute to protecting public health) and Human Rights (White Phosphorus Weapons, exclusion of investments in securities issued by countries where serious specific categories of violations of Human Rights are observed). In addition, companies in violation of international norms and standards such as the United Nations Global Compact Principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, as well as companies which are involved in severe ESG-related incidents which cover themes such as Human Rights, Society, Labor, Environment as well as Governance are excluded. Further, to encourage robust ESG practices, companies with low ESG quality based on ESG scores are excluded. Excluded from this are derivatives and underlying eligible shares in other collective investment schemes (target funds).

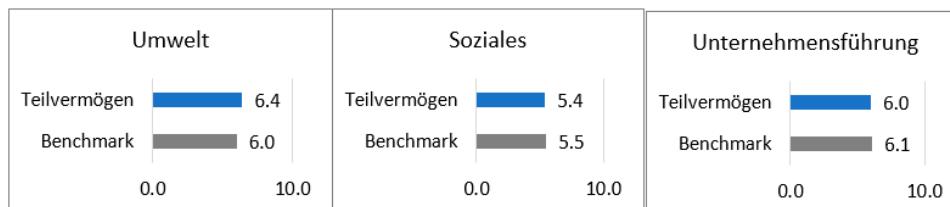

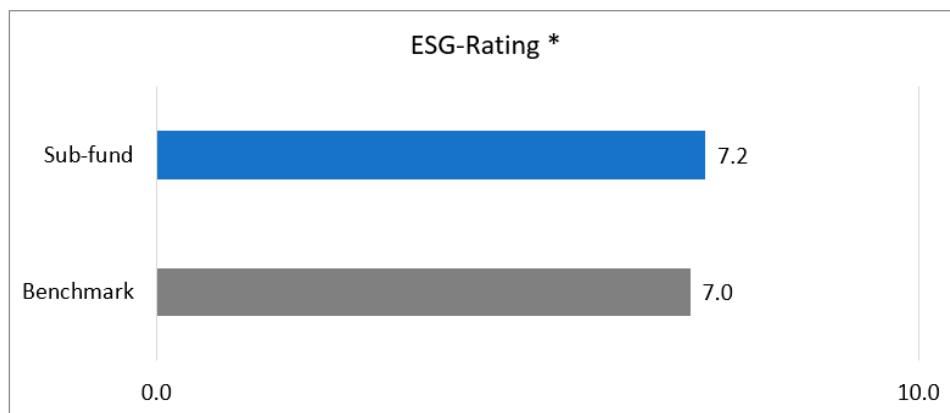

Furthermore, AXA IM pursues a comprehensive active ownership strategy encompassing engagement. The asset manager's goal is to use its influence as an investor to encourage companies to reduce key environmental and social risks in their respective industries. This strategy is applied at AXA IM level and may affect securities within the subfund. The information on AXA IM engagement activities is publicly disclosed.
